

1. Publication Agreement

At least the corresponding author (preferably all authors) must sign the agreement. One author must be designated as the correspondent and their name, title of the manuscript, manuscript number, correspondence address, and telephone number must be included within this form. This part of the agreement is made between the corresponding author and the Fiat Lux Journal or its legal successors.

1. I am authorized by my co-authors to enter into these arrangements.
2. I warrant, on behalf of myself and my co-authors, that:
  - a. The article is original and has not been formally published in any other peer-reviewed journal and does not infringe any existing copyright or any other third party rights;
  - b. I am/we are the sole author(s) of the article and have full authority to enter into this agreement in granting rights to the Fiat Lux Journal and are not in breach of any other obligation. If the law requires that the article be published in the public domain, I/we will notify the publisher at the time of submission upon which clauses 3 through 6 inclusive do not apply;
  - c. The article contains nothing that is unlawful, libelous, or which would, if published, constitute a breach of contract or of confidence or of commitment given to secrecy;
  - d. I/we have taken due care to ensure the integrity of the article. To my/our – and currently accepted scientific – knowledge, all statements contained in it purporting to be facts are true and any formula or instruction contained in the article will not, if followed accurately, cause any injury, illness, or damage to the user.
3. I/we retain copyright.
4. I/we grant to any third party, in advance and in perpetuity, the right to use, reproduce, or disseminate the article in its entirety or in part, in any format or medium under a Creative Commons Attribution License (cc-by 4.0 <http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by/4.0/>) provided that no errors are introduced in the process, that the Fiat Lux Journal is duly identified as the original publisher, that proper attribution of authorship and correct citation details are given (including the URL to the original article on the Fiat Lux Journal website), that a clear notice clarifying the license terms is provided (e.g. a notice saying that the article can be freely shared under a Creative Commons Attribution License), that the bibliographic details are not changed, and, if the work is reproduced or disseminated only in part, this fact is clearly and unequivocally indicated.
5. I/we grant to the Fiat Lux Journal (its successor and assigns) an irrevocable worldwide license for the full term of copyright in the article to publish it in any format or medium and identify itself as the original publisher and the Fiat Lux Journal as the original publisher in which the article first appeared.
6. In the event that the article is not published, these terms and conditions shall cease to apply and neither I/we nor the publisher shall have any further obligations towards the other in respect of the article or these terms and conditions, except for potentially outstanding article processing fees.
